

My Creed for Living

I choose to believe in justice for all, to long for the right which includes the rights of others, to love mercy, to assist the weak, to forget wrongs and remember benefits, to love the truth as I know it, to be sincere and honest in my words, to act out in word and deed the voice of freedom and liberty, and a healthy respect for oneself and others, to enjoy the balancing health giving gift of good humor/laughter and self humor (a chuckling laugh at oneself), to see and appreciate the creative wonder and beautiful in nature, to hopefully live out and cultivate the best possible gift and expression of unconditional love, goodness, acceptance and a happy open thankful spirit, to live in a way that preserves a reverence for life, to fill life with the warmth of hopeful encouraging and understanding words and actions, to help dismantle the destructive effects of hatred and prejudice with the most honest and possible forms of a mind, heart and an altering example, to express a refreshing spirit of openness and good will toward all that we meet on our own home ground and beyond, to see the calm beyond the storm, the dawn beyond the night, to do the best that I am able, and then let it be in the Name of the One who is the source and spiritual presence of the good, the eternal markings of unconditional love, and with hopefully our own positive soul and mind participation, the One who continuously contributes in helping us to realize the refreshingly New and the meaningful purpose of our human existence during our journey along the roadways of our Life on this amazing planet earth.
