Thoughts at 1940

August 23, 2023

The counter for my blog says this one, "Stairs", is #1940, since the first, in 2008. That #1 succeeded the previous 1940, which had a long life as P+J (Peace and Justice) which began with another #1 in late September, 2001, a couple of weeks after 9-11-01. I hadn't been an activist before. Our U.S. response to 9-11 worried me. I could see nothing good coming out of an effort to use an admitted disaster as an opportunity to consolidate and expand our "Power". The results 22 years later + in between speak for themselves.

"1940"? My birth year. It is hardly a secret. It is farther + farther away from today. But, I'm still "just a kid"!

The counter will keep counting so long as I, or maybe someone else, keeps this collection of musings on-line. Realistically, two 'runs' of 1940 will not someday result in a 3rd round. At the same rate as the most recent round, I'd be somewhere around 97....

I'll keep writing as long as I enjoy doing it; and sending along to whomever seems OK receiving it. (or, at least, doesn't say "STOP").

One way or another we all have our riches along this road we travel together.

I wish you + yours the very best.
See you at 1941 + forward -

Dick
